on the activity of Institute of Socio-Cultural Management:
10 years for community development
(2001-2011)

Dear Colleagues,

It took exactly 10 years since our organization began its activity. During this time we have gone from local initiatives to national initiatives. Today we build our work on this principle: the main goal is community development, institution for the Center serves as a local activity, technology - animation community activities, and the indicator of success - a state of social capital. For us these 10 years have been exciting and busy period. And how it was useful to society does not judge us, and you dear friends. We hope that the information provided in this report will give you that opportunity.

Sincerely,

Lev Abramov,

President of the Institute of socio-cultural management

About Institute of Socio – Cultural Management (ISCM)

Institute of Socio-Cultural Management (ISCM) is a non-political, unreligious, non-commercial and non-governmental public organization. Began its activity in 2000 and it was officially incorporated in 2001.

“Serving to community has to be the aim of life”

ISCM staff has experience conducting research, seminars, training courses, developing teaching aids, online resources and administration of grant programs.

The higher organ of management at ISCM is the Committee of Commons, which elects and controls activity of the President and Vice-President, as well as the Advice council and the Check-up committees. This higher organ determines basic directions of activity of ISCM. In the period between meetings the Committee of Commons the basic organ is the Advice council which elects the Board. Operative guidance of the organization is carried out by the President which has a right to sign documents on behalf of ISCM. The check-up committee controls activity of the Board and the President. As well it is accountable to the Committee of Commons. In February, 2006 activity of ISCM was checked up by the Kirovograd Department of Justice. As a result it was acknowledged as organization, which meets standards of Ukrainian legislation. In 2005 and 2008 the organization conducted an external audit (positive conclusion, the results provided by the Eurasia Foundation and the Batory Foundation, respectively). Activities ISCM supported or maintained: Eurasia Foundation, ISAR “Unity”, Foundation for Human Rights, the International Renaissance Foundation, Stefan Batory Foundation, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Ukraine, the Committee of Voters of Ukraine, Eastern Europe Fund, UNITER, NATO as well as donations of citizens and businesses.

“Unite, teach, help”

Mission of ISCM is assistance to democratic transformation in Ukrainian society by support of development of local societies, independent transformative space and processes of integrations at local level. Basic directions of ISCM’s activity are education, spreading information and research.

Main directions of ISCM activity

Educational direction of work

“Education - the most important of earthly goods, if it is high quality. Otherwise, it is absolutely useless”.

Efforts ISCM employees have a positive movement, as characterized by certain subjective symptoms - high demands team members and trust, good will and constructive criticism. We promote intellectual, creative and active social and personality development of education and science, of scientific and educational programs, and training everyone.

ISCM Library has many publications to help community activists and all those wishing to make changes in society. This training - manuals, studies, newsletters NGOs –Inform and many other publications.

Research direction of work

Research work of ISCM aimed at identifying a particular need, or help in the community, conducting research and monitoring of social processes.

Last of the research that was conducted ISCM - “Activity of the Houses of Culture to meet the needs of local communities” within the project “Joint way into the future” in January-February 2010, after what the report was issued as a result of the study. The publication, based on expert interviews, focus groups and analysis of documents found content, methods of organization and principles of cultural buildings to meet the needs of local communities and opportunities to optimize the process.

Information direction of work

The information direction is intended to inform citizens about the cultural and social life.

In April 2010 ISCM within the project “Joint way into the future” created a site “Centers of local activity» (www.lacenter.org.ua).

Our site is designed for NGO activists, members of cultural institutions, local authorities, journalists and anyone interested in the social life of contemporary Ukraine.

Also from 1999 comes newsletter “NGO - Inform”, which was created to disseminate information about the activities of NGOs not only in big cities but also in the remotest corners: regional centers, small towns, villages and establishment of relations with once well-coordinated system of cultural institutions.

Not only teaching, but learning!

Over 10 years of ISCM conducted many workshops, seminars and more. It was a great job to prepare effective training to information provided by participants was meaningful and useful.

But to teach someone, you need to gain skills so ISCM staff participated in training with the passage of communication, business writing, management, results-based and others
